OPPOSES LEASING

Resolutions to That Effect Passed by Elko County Cattle Association.

At their annual meeting held Saturday afternoon the Elko County Cattle Association adopted the following resolutions:

Resolved, That, in the judgment of the Elko County Cattle Association, the leasing of government lands to syndicates, corporations or individuals is against the best interests of the State, and it would work a great hardship on the stock industry, affecting both the large and small stock raisers of the State. We deem it our duty as stock raisers to enter our strong protest against the leasing of public lands; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be forwarded to our senators and representative in Congress, and to Dr. Stubbe, asking them to use their influence in the defeat of leasing the public lands of Nevada.

Home From Africa.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hellman passed through Reno yesterday on No. 5. They were on their way from South Africa to San Francisco to visit Mr. Hellman's father, who is becoming very infirm. Mr. Hellman was formerly mining surveyor on the Comstock and later held prominent positions in the Rand mines. Some months ago he was placed under arrest by the Boer government on suspicion of being a British sympathizer, or something of that sort. As soon as he secured his release he started for home. He will return to the Transvaal as soon as the cruel war is over.

Working Night and Day.

The busiest and mightiest little thing that ever was made is Dr. King's New Life Pills. Every pill is a sugar-coated globule of health, that changes weakness into strength, listlessness into energy, brain-fag into mental power. They're wonderful in building up the health. Only 25cts. per box. Sold by S. J. Hodgkinson Duggist.

The town was papered yesterday for the Ward & Vokes company, which will appear in the opera house Wednesday, April 18.

A special train of cattle laid over a few hours yesterday to rest the stock.

John Sparks yesterday shipped three carloads of thoroughbred stock to the east.

WHY DOES GENERAL ROBERTS DELAY?

Military affairs in the Transvaal are not as satisfactory to Great Britain as they have been. The depressed state of feeling that succeeded the defeat of Cronje appears to have been removed and confidence substituted in its stead. Whatever may be the cause for inactivity, it seems that the forces of England have become a part of the ground they are on. The Boers continue to become more aggressive and are making encroachments upon Free State territory without receiving any material check from the forces of General Roberts. They have made attacks upon British squadrons and defeated them, taking large bodies as prisoners and much spoil, which successes have revived the drooping spirits of the Boers and given nerve and energy to the Boer cause and its commanders.

The people of the Free State are not as loyal as they have been and are giving signs of a renewal of war feeling. General Buller is passive and his army is idle, while the Boers are all about him, raiding the country his army is in. His forces are under the command of Roberts and subject to his direction, which is not given for any active or aggressive purpose. There is no doubt a cause for inactivity, which must be voluntary, as it is surely impossible for the Boers to give cause for it by force.

The people of England are becoming again impatient and are discussing anew the possibilities of seeming misfortune. It is claimed that General Roberts has all the men and all the munitions of war to aid him in an aggressive campaign, which are being consumed without any effort to relieve the monotony that prevails in South Africa in her majesty's service. The Boers have been largely reinforced lately by the enlistment of Webster Davis, late in the civil service of William of the United States, who will do Herculean work for the unfortunate republics in the United States, which may have a very intimidating effect upon Salisbury, Chamberlain and others who were instrumental, as claimed, in causing the war; but his service may not aid the Boers in battle, or be a means that will bring defeat to the arms of England in a hard fought field in the mountains or on the plains of the Transvaal.

It will, however, be a lesson to England that may be remembered when making up the imperial mind to take in some other weak people, that there are men in the United States who have hearts larger than their heads, who will talk when things don't suit them. Mr. Davis gives to his countrymen and to the world an example of humane feeling that will not be lost upon those who hear him, but we do not understand where any practical good will come from his efforts at this time.

The Boers are praying and keeping their powder dry, and we are informed by the imperialists there are among us that the British are doing the same thing, which leads to a conclusion that the prayers and powder will offset each other and leave the whole matter to superior force and skill by the combatants. The present delay, when the surroundings are reviewed, gives an outside observer an impression that General Roberts has arrived at an opinion that it will be necessary to proceed with caution on his way to Pretoria. That the Boers are in their own country whose mountains and valleys are as familiar to them as their firesides, which they are defending to the death, and who intend that value received in British blood shall be given before there is a forcible appropriation of their country and their homes by their enemy.

IMPERIALISM IS TAKING A REST.

Imperialism is resting quiet since its late high handed work connected with Porto Rico. The Senate gave the special privilege permits to mining at Nome a setback presumably for the reason that tyrants at Washington were becoming to many for the comfort of the imperial Senate. When the administration became engaged in farming out the mining interests of the people to its favorites it was deemed to be too much imperialism with the large amount of imperial work there was to be disposed of at this time.

The administration when it became engaged in disposing of the mining interests and privileges of the people it was deemed to be the thing required to call a halt, and if for no other reason than to give an appearance by the Senate that the people were not altogether beyond its consideration. The little tyrants who were engaged in the work of issuing special privileges were served in due form with notice to quit which had the required effect upon the imperialist creatures who inhabit the administration departments at Washington and the further issuance of these privileges was discontinued till there is a better opportunity to do like work.

The administration should know that any exclusive mining rights conferred upon others was to direct to meet with success at present. The American people remain of the opinion that they have rights which it is admitted to be largely a mistake, but so long as they continue to think and believe they possess rights it will make trouble with the Republican party to fool with them in some matters, and free mining is one of these matters. It will require more cunning than it has hitherto required before they will be peacefully persuaded of the truth, that they are largely without rights.

The trusts will have to wait patiently till some more of the scales are removed from the eyes of the people before it will be prudent for the trusts to take all there is in the country. The people will be gradually informed of the loss of their rights through the action of the administration and a United States Congress. Should there be any objection made by any Republican to a loss of any right he will be informed as he has been that the people will very soon have some other sow by the ear and for that reason there is no cause to make trouble in the party.

The Matter of Fire Lines.

A meeting of Monumental Hose Company, No. 8, was held at the engine house last evening. The only matter of interest coming before the meeting was with reference to fire lines. This was suggested at a previous meeting by Chief Hodgkinson and a committee was appointed to interview the officers to see if their aid could be secured. The committee asked for further time which was granted.

The project is to establish dead lines in case of fire and keep the spectators from crowding too close to the scene of action.

With Military Honors.

A meeting was held at the police court last evening to take action in the matter of the funeral of Corporal Hartung. It was decided to give a place in the funeral procession to the veterans of the Spanish war and the University cadets.

A meeting of the Grand Army post will be held Friday evening and they will doubtless also decide to attend. The funeral will be held at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon under the auspices of the Odd Fellows.

Must Mend His Ways.

If Tom Hymers has any aspirations toward being re-elected Main Guy of Reno and High-o-Muck-a-muck of Washoe county, he must turn over a new leaf.

He has been for some time maintaining a nuisance at his livery in the person of a dilapidated, slab-sided jackass, which makes night hideous and the lives of people in the vicinity not worth living as he pours upon the murmuring zephyrs his mournful dole.

Return of Gignoux.

J. E. Gignoux received word this week that his son, Fred Gignoux, had returned to San Francisco from Manila and would visit Dayton soon. A copy of the Manila Times gives an account of the operations of the Eleventh Cavalry, of which Gignoux is captain, in which it states that the campaigning and fighting of Schwan's army was the hardest and most severe of any work that has been done on the islands. The Eleventh Cavalry was a part of Schwan's forces.—Dayton Times.

Back from South Africa.

The report that Fritz Frey had joined the British army was proven false last night by that young man turning up in Reno. He was met at the station by John Henry, who is also a recent arrival from South Africa. They had so much to say to each other about the Transvaal situation that Fritz had little opportunity to shake hands with the friends who welcomed him home.

Ground to Atoms.

A man who was stealing a ride on a Central Pacific train came to grief yesterday morning between this city and Truckee. His clothing probably became caught by the axle, at any rate he met with a horrible death. Fragments of his body were scattered along the track from Floriston to Truckee. The largest piece, a foot, was found near Boca.

Failed to Convict.

William Short, who figured in the courts some months ago on the charge of stealing shoes from a box car, was yesterday tried by a jury in Justice Linru's court for parloing an overcoat from a Reno store. The prisoner was dismissed on account of lack of evidence.

THEY'RE HARD CHARACTERS

Disreputable Tenderloiners Who Pose as Gentlemen of Refinement.

A delegation of solid citizens of Reno called at the JOURNAL office last evening. They had a vigorous kick coming. Read the article and see if you can blame them:

Our city is at present infested with a half score, or possibly one or two less, of moral lepers. The fellows in question dress well, if somewhat flashily. They came unannounced and without recommendation. A little hobnobbing with some of the boys and they were soon introduced in the social world. The advantage was followed up, and now these eight or ten objectionable persons know and are known by a host of young ladies of good character and refinement. They attend parties and enjoy drives and promenades with them.

When our young heroes find that their pocket money is running low they have no difficulty in replenishing their purses. It requires merely a visit to the tenderloin, where the women who accompanied them, and who paid their fare to Reno, sell their bodies and souls that the young ladies of the upper world may have neatly dressed gowns.

The police are using their best efforts to abate these worse than nuisances, but feel that nothing could be gained by arrest on a criminal charge and trial by jury. However, they are watching their movements sharply and would be only too pleased to serve warrants on complaints that would give a possibility of conviction.

This is a pretty dark picture to look at, isn't it? But there is another, of even more somber coloring, to be seen:

The tailor-made touts and bruisers have in several instances gained the confidence of their acquaintances to the extent that wine suppers and slumming parties of two are next in order.

Then comes the laudanum bottle. Some morning we hope to see that the iron bridge has been used again as a means of crossing the river—the river from whose farther shore the betrayer of the weak and the confiding never return.

The Virginia Report baseball club wants to play a Reno team for a hundred dollars a side.

The Truckee river is gradually falling but is still carrying a head of water sufficient to keep up the bopes of the meadow irrigators.

The St. Margaret's society of the Congregational church will give a tea in the vestry on the afternoon and evening of Saturday, April 21.

The seniors in the school of mines at the University have finished class work and will devote the remainder of the term to examinations and preparation of theses.

Contractor Holesworth has begun remodeling Mrs. Birdall's houses at the corner of Fourth and Virginia streets. They will be converted into modern dwellings.

Workmen are excavating on the lot opposite the Washoe County Bank. Mr. Martin will erect a four story brick there if he can acquire the adjoining vacant lot at a reasonable figure.

Not Yet a Murder Case.

A report was on the streets yesterday to the effect that Hawkins, the negro assaulted by H. Davis, had died from his injuries. Up to a late hour last night the victim of the assault was still living, but he is in a precarious condition.

Contractor Clough has returned from business trip to Arizona.

Mr. and Mrs. Camille Lonkey, J. P. Morrill and Frank Nicholson were among the visitors from Verdi yesterday.

General Manager H. A. Bowen of the Sierra Valleys railroad arrived last night from the city, where he accompanied his family, who will visit in the bay city.

Postal Inspector Cain spent a few hours yesterday in the sanctum sanctorum of H. P. Kraus. Nasby continues to look pleasant, so the books must have been found in proper shape.

Red Hot from the Gun

Was the ball that hit G. H. Steadman of Newark, Mich., in the Civil War. It caused horrible ulcers that no treatment helped for 20 years. Then Bucklen's Arnica Salve cured him. Cures cuts, bruises, burns, boils, felonies, acne, skin eruptions. Best pile cure on earth. Twenty-five cents a box. Cure guaranteed. Sold by S. Hodgkinson, druggist.

Didn't Want to Pose.

A party of eastern tourists aboard last evening's flyer were much interested in the group of Indians which invariably occupies the vacant lot across from the Palace Hotel. An attempt to kodak them was replied to by a volley of stones, which impressed the easterners with the fact that the Nevada Piute is still a bad Indian.

"Arms and the Men."

At noon yesterday the University cadets paraded the streets of Reno, preceded by their band. The boys marched like veterans. The small boys followed the parade as though it were a circus procession.

Head Consul Falkenburg wired Clerk Perkins of Washoe camp last evening that he would surely be in Reno on the evening of May 5th. There will be a large delegation of Woodmen present from Carson and a red hot time is expected.

Commercial gypsum is now being shipped by the carload from the Mound House.

It is reported that the Barret Bros. have sold, or bonded, the Black Horse gold mine on the East Walker to Reno parties for $10,000. — Lyon County Times.

M. H. Hennessy, superintendent of the Independence mine at Mill City, shipped a carload of high-grade copper ore from that place to Golconda last Saturday. The ore, which also contains a good value in silver, will be worked at the Glasgow & Western company's smelter.

The copper mines on the eastern side of Ruby Valley, Elko county, are still booming. Property is changing hands and new claims are being taken up. There have also been several new strikes on the western range, one on the eastern range, one in the northern part near Secret, and the other, of lead, on Battle Creek.

A Fine Sample of Laundry Work

DON'T CARE

That's the spirit that pervades most laundries—employees don't care whether your linen is torn or not. It's different here, our employees are careful and the management personally inspects all work before it leaves the laundry.
